

Training of Trainers on E-Learning Design

INSTRUCTIONAL DESIGNERS AND FACILITATORS

Angela Melchiorre, Dr. Angela Melchiorre manages all Global Campus e-learning activities. As a certified Instructional Designer with decades of experience in both human rights and online teaching, she creates digital learning experiences that are pedagogically sound, substantively accurate and technically engaging. She has worked in human rights since 2000 with multi-sectoral experiences.

In her previous roles, she was Programme Director of the European Master's Degree in Human Rights and Democratisation (EMA) and Lecturer at the University of London where she earned her PhD with a thesis on child marriage and the Convention on the Rights of the Child. Other teaching activities include post-graduate courses in universities around Europe.

Angela has also experience as research coordinator with ActionAid International, human rights delegate in the Italian and EU Permanent Missions at the UN in Geneva and New York, independent consultant with UNESCO, UNICEF, UN CEDAW, the UN Special Rapporteur on the Right to Education.

Her areas of expertise are children's rights, the right to education and Human Rights in International Politics. She graduated from EMA in 2000.

Weronika Grelow, Dr. Weronika Grelow, a certified Instructional Designer, is responsible for the conceptualisation, implementation and follow-up of specialised e-learning courses, which she enriches with cross-cultural knowledge, meaningful assessment models and creative interactions. She joined the Global Campus team after several years of humanitarian fieldwork.

In her previous human rights roles she provided legal, educational and social support to migrants and asylum seekers in refugee camps in Italy, Turkey and Lebanon. Other experiences include research and project assistance to the UNDP Regional Bureau for Europe and the CIS in Istanbul, assistance to the development of human rights education programmes at the European Union Agency for Fundamental Rights in Vienna, and documentation support to UNMIK, OSCE Anti-trafficking Unit in Kosovo.

Weronika holds a Ph.D. in Transcultural Studies on Eurasia and North Africa from the University of Ca' Foscari in Venice, an M.A. in International Protection of Human Rights from the University of Rome "La Sapienza" and a Master's Degree in Oriental Studies from the University of Warsaw.

Daniela La Mattina, Daniela is responsible for the preparation, implementation and evaluation of e-learning activities. She develops learner-centred courses and materials that use a variety of technologies, including gamification, digital collaboration, Scenario Based Learning and big data. She joined the E-Learning Department in 2022 after having worked as EMA Executive Officer for 4 years.

In her previous role, Daniela liaised with EMA students and the University of Padua concerning certificates, logistics and administrative issues. Prior to joining the Global Campus, she spent three years at Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna in Pisa promoting social mobility in education. She also previously worked in the field of democracy support at the European Parliament, the International Institute for Democracy and Electoral Assistance and the Italian Embassy in the Republic of Congo.

Daniela holds a Master's degree in International Relations from the University of Bologna, a post-graduate MA in Human Rights and Conflict Management from Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna and a Master's degree in open education, social and mobile learning from the University of Florence.

Giacomo Ottonello, Giacomo liaises with regional and external partners, as well as Alumni, to ensure that digital engagement is embedded in the design, implementation and innovation of all Global Campus e-learning activities. He has joined the E-Learning Department in 2022 after having worked as Project Officer in the Global Activities Department for 6 years.

In his former role, Giacomo supported the Global Campus worldwide network in the creation and management of joint activities such as the Policy Observatory, the Global Classroom, the GC International Conference and the Visual Contest. He also coordinated the Global Campus Alumni Association.

Previously, Giacomo was International Relations Officer in Confindustria/Federpesca, working mainly on project management, policy analysis and lobbying, and Project Officer at Sant'Anna School. Prior to these experiences, he worked in the cooperation field in Kenya, Congo and Haiti.

Giacomo holds a Master's degree in Human Rights from the University of Padua, a Post-graduate MA in Human Rights and Conflict Management from Sant'Anna School of Advanced Studies and a Master's degree in open education, social and mobile learning from the University of Florence.

